Conference shows importance of early education

By ROXANNE CONVERSE-WHITING
Contributing Writer

Early childhood development is important.

Data has shown that when it comes to kindergarten readiness skills, the children in Gothenburg who did not attend preschool don't enter kindergarten at the same level as their peers.

Of Gothenburg students who did not attend preschool, none scored in the top third of their class, 10 percent scored in the middle third and 90 percent scored in bottom third, according to historical data provided to the Gothenburg Early Childhood Learning Coalition (GECLC).

Recently, Colton Venteicher of the GECLC and Angie Richeson, Dudley Elementary principal, attended an Institute for Youth,

Education and Families in Orlando, Florida, which was intended to promote building an early learning nation. The opportunity was made possible because of a grant through the Communities for Kids (C4K) Initiative, which is supported by the Nebraska Children and Families Foundation.

The conference is one of the first events that representatives of the GECLC have attended. While the grant does offer

TOUGH WEATHER STRIKES STATE

Mother Nature struck Nebraska with a fury late last week, causing flooding, high winds and a blizzard which led to destruction across the state. Those in Dawson County were largely spared from the torment that has been seen in many other corners of Nebraska. However, Hwy. 30 and I-80 were closed for lengthy periods last week and schools throughout the area were closed last Thursday. Many events were canceled or postponed. In these photos, flooding crosses a country road outside Gothenburg (right) and water sweeps away materials along Hwy. 30 near Willow Island. Looking to help those in need? See page A8 for a few ways to get involved in those efforts. (Photos by Amber Montoya)

She's an EMT, an advocate for military families and enjoys time on the family farm.

Meet Amber Montoya, the newest member of the Gothenburg Times staff. She joined the newspaper last week as advertising representative.

"I'm a people person," she said. "I like to get out and know everybody and to be able to help all of the businesses."

Amber Montoya

The Eustis High School graduate and her husband, Bill, have split time over the last few years between Nebraska and Colorado. They have three children. Montoya also has a degree in medical laboratory technology and spent time in that field.

Montoya volunteers with an organization to help veterans' families, and she also volunteers as an EMT for Johnson Lake EMS.

In their spare time, she and her family enjoy riding dirt bikes, fishing, hunting and camping. They also like to help out on her father's farm.

Walk around town: Gothenburg woman exercises in lieu of lunch

By ROXANNE CONVERSE-WHITING
Contributing Writer

It's simply a part of her day, like getting up and brushing her teeth. She simply says to herself, "I'm gonna walk today."

Maureen Lariviere has been walking almost every day during the work week over her lunch break for seven years. Employed at Gothenburg State Bank for the past 16 years, she decided that she didn't need an hour for lunch and would get out and start walking.

Her typical route after she leaves the bank is to walk up Lake Avenue, around Lake Helen once, and back down Lake Avenue. The distance is about 3 miles, she said, and takes her 45 minutes.

Lariviere is willing to walk in almost any kind of weather except pouring rain. She recounted a time that she took shelter at Lake

Helen when it began to rain heavily. When she called the bank to let them know that she'd be late returning from lunch, Carrie Graham came to her rescue.

In the winter, she said she wears two or three shirts under her windbreaker, fleece layered tights under her sweats, a scarf, a covering for her face, ear muffs, and often the hood of her windbreaker on windy days.

In the summer she simply changes into shorts and a tank top.

Walking is a way that Lariviere stays in shape in addition to working out five days a week. It also helps to clear her mind and gives her an opportunity to visit with people along the route.

"I'm always amazed how many people notice that I walk everyday at lunch," she said. "I always tell them that they are more than welcome to join me."

Maureen Lariviere walks daily during her lunch hour. She walks in all kinds of weather, from warm to cold. The only thing that stops her is a downpour. (Contributed photo)

NBDC has great impact on economy

Greetings District 36. It is refreshing seeing all the snow melt away, and warmer temperatures return to Nebraska. This past week I was able to attend a luncheon honoring McDaniel Farms, a business located in my legislative district. McDaniel Farms, from Sargent, was awarded the Government Contractor of the Year award to identify issues with McDaniel Farms' current setup for submitting government contracting applications, and worked with Amber to address the issues so that her business was not overlooked during the application process. As a result of NBDC's expertise and willingness to help, McDaniel Farms was able to obtain five contracts with the federal government in 2018. The NBDC is another example of the University of Nebraska system having an incredible impact on our state's economy. In 2018, the NBDC served 2,293 clients, helped to increase total sales by $20.8 million, helped secure $128.7 million in government contracts, and is estimated to have had a total impact of $438.9 million on Nebraska's economy. The NBDC is headquartered in Omaha, and has offices in Lincoln, Wayne, Norfolk, Grand Island, Kearney, North Platte, McCook, Scottsbluff, and Chadron. They offer a wide breadth of free and paid services available to businesses of all sizes and industries. I couldn't be more proud of the work NBDC does, and the enormous impact they have on our state's economy.

Amber was interested in contracting her business' goat grazing services to federal agencies, and was referred to the NBDC's Kearney office to meet with a government contracting specialist. The specialist was able

CONVERSE-WHITING: Spring has sprung

In like a lion, out like a lamb. Or is it the other way around? I ask myself this every year. If April showers bring May flowers, what do March rain storms bring? Spring has sprung as this week is the Spring Equinox, and I look forward to daffodils, tulips, Easter, and May Day baskets.

To be brutally honest, I still have my snowman decorations up. It hasn't felt like spring to me. In fact, I have honestly doubted whether it would actually come this year. It reminds me of a poem by Langston Hughes titled "A Dream Deferred."

What happens to a dream deferred?
Does it dry up
like a raisin in the sun?
Or fester like a sore—
And then run?
Does it stink like rotten meat?
Or crust and sugar over—

like a syrupy sweet?
Maybe it just sags
like a heavy load.
Or does it explode?

However, the warmer days, the presence of sunshine, and light in the evenings has changed my perspective a bit. I actually went for a walk around the lake and watched the sun set. The experience reminded me of a Bible verse: "A hope deferred makes the heart sick, but a longing fulfilled is a tree of life." Proverbs 13:12.

The longings many are experiencing for Spring is not unlike the longings that come so naturally to us as humans. We long for connection, to be valued, and for a sense of purpose. I once heard it said that we long for someone to be a witness to our life.

Although there may be nothing that I can do about the arrival of Spring, I do have a choice to make connections with people in my life rather than waiting for others to reach out to me. Perhaps the winter has kept me isolated or living in a space of darkness, but I can choose to show interest in the lives of others and participate in meaningful tasks, which brightens everyone's world. Spring has sprung and a vibrant life is mine to choose.

Brady board moves forward with housing opportunity

By JOHN VERSER
Managing Editor

Two additional homes will likely be moved to Brady this year.

The village board voted to buy three lots for a price of $15,000 at its meeting last Wednesday, contingent on them being used for houses to be moved there by the Lincoln County Community Development Corporation. The lots are on Vine Street.

“We have a real opportunity to get these houses,” said Todd Roe, board chairman.

Water and sewer hookups are already available on site, which means the village won’t have to install them. The three lots will have to be re-platted to two lots before the houses can be moved there.

At its February meeting, Carol Bodeen of the Lincoln County CDC told board members that there are two houses available in North Platte that need to be moved. The only cost to the village will be the cost of the lots, since water and sewer hookups are currently available at the Vine Street location.

The CDC will pay the rest of the costs, including moving the houses and refurbishing them.

“That’s a no-brainer,” said board member Jeff Miller.

The village had money budgeted to buy lots for houses this year, and this opportunity will allow homes to be placed in the village in a much quicker basis.

“It’s two houses in less than a year that we’re going to get put up in Brady that we’ll have open by next school year,” Roe said.

At the February meeting, Bodeen said the houses needed to be moved by April 1 or a plan should be in place to have them moved. Roe said he talked to Great Western Bank, which owns the homes and is donating them to the CDC, and said they would be willing to push back that deadline if lots and a commitment are in place.

The village will not be responsible for selling the houses once they are refurbished. Bodeen said last month the purchasers wouldn’t be chosen strictly on an income-based level, but the CDC would first look to sell them to someone who is at 80 percent of the county’s medium income, which is $54,400 for a family of four.

After a lengthy discussion, the board voted for the second straight meeting to table the potential purchase of a tractor.

The village received bids from three companies: Miller Repair, Titan Machinery and Iron Eagle Kubota.

The board wanted financing options before making a decision. They decided to accept additional information only from the three companies which have already placed bids.

With deteriorating roads due to a rough winter, the board allowed village utility superintendent Shawn Anderson to purchase extra gravel to make repairs.

The gravel will be used in places where a more immediate, temporary fix is needed, due to the tough winter and the thawing out of the ground.

“I’ve got some roads that are actually falling apart since the frost has gone out of them,” Anderson said.

The village allowed Anderson to spend an extra $2,000 on gravel.

“I can probably make it work pretty good,” Anderson said.

Obituaries

Janet Janell Schledewitz, 44 of North Platte passed away unexpectedly March 10, 2019 at her home.

Janet was born on June 28, 1974 in North Platte to John and Donna (Smidt) Schledewitz.

She attended school in Maxwell, graduating from Maxwell High School. Janet worked at McDonalds and was a member of the First Evangelical Lutheran Church. Janet loved the simple things in life, fishing, spending time outdoors, playing pool, game nights with the family, and spending time with her niece, nephews and their children. Janet was a very loving, kind hearted, and generous person who was always there to help some one in need. You knew she was having a good time when you heard her deep soulful laugh.

Survivors include her parents, John and Donna Schledewitz of Maxwell; siblings, Jill (Jim) Falcon of Maxwell, Johnny Schledewitz of North Platte; niece, Jalissa Falcon of North Platte; nephews, Jimmy (Karsen) Falcon of North Platte and Justin Falcon of Maxwell; great-nieces, Avery, Madelyn, Greah; and great-nephew, Jameson; aunts and uncles, Larry (Sue) Schledewitz of Maxwell, Joann Rosse of Lincoln, Art (Betty) Smidt of Glenville, (Clyde) Hohlfeldt of Holstein; numerous cousins, extended family members and friends.

She was preceded in death by her grandparents.

Memorials are suggested to the North Platte Special Olympics or to the North Platte Animal Shelter. Online condolences may be shared at www.adamsswanson.com.

Those wishing to sign the register book were able to do so 9 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Thursday, March 14, at Adams & Swanson Funeral Home.

Cremation was chosen and memorial services were held at 10:30 a.m. Friday, March 15, at the First Evangelical Lutheran Church with Rev. Arnold Flater officiating. Burial followed at Plainview Cemetery near Maxwell. Lunch was held at First Evangelical Lutheran Church following burial.

Adams & Swanson Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Elleanor “Ellie” Welliver Kelly, 90, of Lexington, passed away Friday, Feb. 15, 2019 in Lexington.

Ellie was born Oct. 25, 1928 in Lexington to Millard and Cloreada (Selk) Dodge. Ellie was the eldest of five children, brothers Keith and Jim and sisters Sherry and Arlyn. She grew up in Lexington and graduated from Lexington High School with the class of 1947. On April 23, 1947 she was united in marriage to Vernon “Doc” Welliver. Upon Doc’s discharge from the U.S. Army, the couple moved to Scappoose, Oregon briefly before returning to Lexington where they made their permanent home. In 1950 they started a family with the arrival of Craig and four years later they completed their family with Cole.

Doc and Ellie enjoyed traveling and took many trips. Ellie was a member of a singing trio associated with the VFW, even performing at the height of glamor of the Pawnee Hotel in North Platte with several “Big Band” groups.

Ellie loved music, she always had it playing and later in life, if it wasn’t playing you could hear Fox News in the background.

If you knew Ellie, you knew that she was always impeccably dressed with immaculate hair and makeup...even right up until the end. She was beautiful outside, but a true beauty inside.

Ellie was a 70-year plus member of the First Presbyterian Church. Ellie loved to play cards. She was a member of a special card group that met every Monday for decades that she and her friends referred to as “therapy”. She was a member of several bridge groups as well. She loved to challenge many family members with hours long games of Spite and Malice.

Ellie loved to socialize, was a member of a dance club for many years, an avid golfer, member of a bowling league, and a huge Husker fan.

Ellie was preceded in death by her parents, her husbands Doc and Bill, her brothers Keith and Jim, sister Sherry, and many other friends and family.

Ellie is survived by her sons: Craig (Phillyis) Welliver of Lead, SD; Cole Welliver of Lexington; Arlyn Bowman of Dewitt, Iowa; brother-in-law Von Hukil of Clovis, N.M.; sister-in-law Lorna Dodge of Kearney; and sister-in-law Ardeth Dodge of North Platte; grandchildren: Samantha (Shad) Mann of Gothenburg and Travis (Crystal) Welliver of Valentine. Great-grandchildren Trevor Mann, Mariah Welliver and Andrew Philbrick as well as many family and friends.

Graveside services will be held Friday, March 22, at 11 a.m. at the Greenwood Cemetery in Lexington with Rev. Eddie Mariel officiating.

Memorials are suggested to the family for later designation and may be sent to Samantha Mann, 41305 Hwy. 30, Gothenburg NE 69138.

Reynolds-Love Funeral Home in Lexington is honored to be assisting the family with arrangements. Share online condolences with the family by visiting: reynoldsllovefuneralhome.com

• Worried about pesticides in your diet? Try mangos, one of the fruits least likely to have pesticide residue.

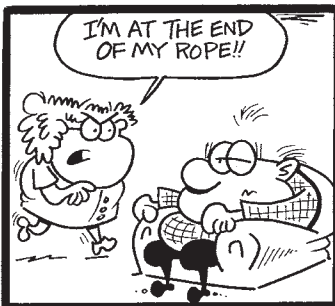

• It can be a snap to remove burned-on food from the bottom of a pot or frying pan. All you have to do is sprinkle in some baking soda and add hot water. Let the mixture sit overnight. In the morning, add a dash more baking soda and scrub the residue away.

• Got dirty floors? Make sure you aren't throwing good effort into a dirty mop. You'll need a second bucket filled with rinse water, then follow this pattern: Clean mop in water with cleaner, mop a section of floor, rinse mop in plain water, go back over that section, rinse mop again. Repeat.

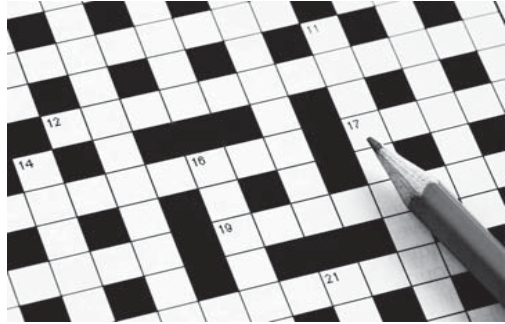

• "I like strong tea with no milk. My husband drinks black coffee. The coffee maker and our mugs get stained over time. About monthly, I 'brew' a pot of hot water, but I put a dishwasher 'pac' in the carafe. The hot water dissolves the cleaner, making the coffee carafe easy to clean. Then I use the detergent water to clean all the mugs. It works like magic."

Well Ahead

The advice that grandma Kathy Suhr gave me was, “Keep up the hard work and keep close to your family. My first full-time job wasn’t until I became a barber, I didn’t have too much other than working on the ranch,” shared Suhr as she was watching the television with a smile on her face because she was on the phone with me. Talking with her grandsons on the phone was one of the things Suhr looked to do as often as possible. “My first full-time job would’ve been working my dream job of being a barber.” Suhr always loved being a barber, especially when she got to cut our hair because whenever we came visit her, we always had to have time for her to give us a haircut.

“When I got the opportunity to own my own barber shop, it made me so happy,” remarked Suhr. “But my favorite part was when my grandchildren would come walking down to my shop to either grab some candy or get their hair cut. The smiles on your faces were the best after watching you three scarf down the candy as a reward for getting a haircut—even though I knew you three always ate candy when my back was turned. It was always the best part of my day when you guys would come visit me and you would hop up on the booster seat because you were too short for the chairs.”

Another thing Suhr told me was about her aunt, Dixie Gaedke, who was more of a sister to her. "Dixie was my closest friend on the ranch—mainly because we didn't have anyone else except the family with whom to play. Dixie only lived a few miles from us," shared Suhr as she was sitting next to her husband, who probably had their dog sitting on his chest, both of whom were taking a nap. "Dixie would've been my closest friend on the ranch; and, because she was family, it was extra special. Dixie was my Dad's sister, so she was an aunt to me; but, with her only being nine months older than I, we thought of it more as being cousins. Dixie had always been there for me. Even though she was technically my aunt, we never had that type of relationship; it was always a friendship because she was only nine months older than me.”

Next, Suhr told me about her first marriage with Bill Ryker. "Bill Ryker, your grandpa, was my first marriage and the father of my son. Bill and I got married in Brewster, Nebraska, and had our honeymoon in Chadron, Nebraska. Our best man was Bill's brother, Doug, and the maid of honor was Dixie. We were engaged for four months before we got married," Suhr said with a smile on her face because I was bringing back memories she thought she'd forgotten. Suhr is now married to her second husband, my grandpa Roger Suhr.

One thing Suhr had found which was fun to do—now that she had been retired for two years—was leather working. Suhr had found lots of enjoyment in taking orders from customers or family. “My favorite teacher, Mrs. Goodrich, was my favorite because she was my only teacher; and she also taught me all the leather working skills I have now,” recalled Suhr. “That would have been close to 60 years ago, now that I think about it. When I got closer to retirement, I started to do more leather tooling because I knew I would need something to do. Some of my favorite moments were when you boys would come visit and ask if you could do some leather tooling. How big your smiles would get when I said you could brought a smile to my face.” Suhr has also found enjoyment in helping run the book club at Birthdays weren't the most important in Suhr's family, meaning they got bigger gifts during Christmas time. "You sure got my memories going. I didn't have a favorite birthday gift, but more of a favorite Christmas gift," stated Suhr. "I was eight, my brother, Roy, was two, and I wrote to Santa asking for cowboy boots for . . . Santa wrote back to . . . that he couldn't promise but he would do his best. . . . The postman had intercepted it. I didn't have North Pole but one on our letter . . . off to the North Pole. . . . Me, and there were . . . Santa. We knew what . . . so we tore them open . . . I had two sets of cowboy . . . each of us. That has . . . my favorite memories . . . my childhood."

Throughout this interview I learned that my grandma, Kathy Suhr, is a very interesting person. This interview changed how I thought of my grandma: she made me think that I am lucky to have such a kind and loving grandma. As I think about my grandma, I see how she made it so far in life by working to achieve her goals—like becoming an owner of her own barber shop. I admire all the hard work that she has gone through to reach this point in her life. As I watch the time roll by on my phone during our conversation, I realize that every minute I get to spend talking to her is a gift from the first to the last.

Gothenburg High School students in certain English classes are asked to write about their grandparents.
